I am a flexible and versatile person which allows me to multitask effectively and get the job done. I am also open to learning and consider myself very diligent. I have acquired different skill sets that I feel will allow me to succeed in this position. I am familiar with IOS programming, data analyzing, networking, and the Microsoft Office 365 suite. Also, living in different parts of the country has enabled me to gain the experience of speaking and interacting with people from all backgrounds, which has helped develop my communication skills. I have been recently getting into the markets and stocks which has allowed me to learn more about business and financial affairs. It has spurred me to learn more about businesses and companies , in particular what causes them to thrive and succeed. I believe I can be a useful and critical piece to any operation with such ideals. I have the work ethic to boot. I have multiple apps on the Apple App Store. I have acquired certifications for topics such as Data Analysis and IOS Development.
